About me:

After a 7-year career as a DevOps Engineer, I decided to pivot towards the world of application development with a sensibility for pretty and efficient user interface.

I recently completed a Bachelor in Web & Mobile Development, focusing on the React ecosystem. My goal is to leverage my infrastructure knowledge to build robust and scalable mobile applications.

I also emphasize self-training, I like to discover new tools and keep up to date with IT trends and news. I use my own server to train myself.
